Community Action Programs: Educate >Empower>Succeed

There are no problems we cannot solve together and very few that we can solve by ourselves.” – President Lyndon B. Johnson

As a part of LBJ’s War on Poverty, Boulder County Community Action Programs (CAP) has been working since 1965 to empower people struggling with poverty and those underrepresented in the community to become self-sufficient and have their voices heard.

CAP, working collaboratively with community partners, works with small groups of clients to foster long-lasting changes in their lives. We work an “inch wide and a mile deep” to move people closer to their goals of self-sufficiency, self-determination and success.

Populations Served
CAP manages a number of programs, including the Circles Campaign (Circles), the Personal Investment Enterprise (PIE), and the People Engaged in Leadership Program (PERL). In 2017, CAP served 230 clients and other program participants.

73% were women
64% were between the ages of 18 and 44
50% live at or below 125% of poverty
41% were single parent households
69% of clients reported employment as their only source of income

Client Story – Maye Cordero
A new lifestyle came with many positives for Maye Cordero. Having grown up in Puerto Rico, she received her bachelor’s degree from Sagrado Corazon University before moving to Boulder. She had hopes of opening her very own photography business, but understood she couldn’t do it alone. That’s when she learned about the PIE program.

“While in the PIE program, I learned how to run my own business in the United States, and I received matching funds to make my business possible”, Maye said.

After saving through the PIE program she was able to purchase new items – a camera, lenses, a computer, editing software, and reflectors - for her photography business.

After graduating from PIE, she became a mentor to new PIE participants. Maye saw this as her chance to spread the word about the PIE program and to encourage others through the process. “It is so refreshing to know that there are organizations and people out there that are willing to help others succeed.”

Stewarding our Resources – CAP and CADC Boards
CAP is funded primarily by the federal Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) through the Office of Community Services, which supports staff and some program costs. CSBG requires that CAP’s advisory board include members that are either low income or can represent low income communities. This board is appointed by the Boulder County Commissioners and provides input and oversight to CAP. Board members are Gina Barajas, Jamie Brandess, Manuela Chavez, Tahlia Bear, Nicole Dillon, Robin Chavez, Susan Boucher, Amy Maziarz, Tracey Jones, Megan Jooste, Nikki McCord, Courtney Schwartz, Melanie McGinn, Tallis Salamarnation, Stella Thomas Morris.

In 1984, the Community Action Development Corporation (CADC), a registered 501(C)(3), was formed to help fundraise and support CAP programs. CADC has its own governing board that oversees its finances and provides input into CAP programs. The board members are Janet Heimer, Erika Moats, Jann Oldham, Michelle Orge and Cameron Tyler.
Circles – Building Community to End Poverty

The Circles Campaign, an evidenced-based program model, is part of an innovative national campaign to end poverty in our community, one family at a time. Individuals and families take charge of their lives and are assisted by community volunteers called Allies. Allies help participants realize their potential through networking, listening, and guidance.

“After completing Circle Leader training, we can all spread the gospel of getting out of poverty.”
– William L., 2017 Circle Leader

The THRIVE Conference was designed to help Boulder County residents with low income to build and acquire assets including homes, businesses, post-secondary education, health insurance, and senior income. It started as a partnership of nine agencies from across the county, and more than half of the workshops are presented in Spanish. Participants learned about resources available to them, and left the conference with clear, next steps.

Poverty Simulation
The Community Action Poverty Simulation is an interactive immersion experience that was held twice in 2017. It is designed to sensitize community participants to the realities of poverty.
