There Has Always Been Drinking in America:

Alcohol, History, Culture, and what it all means for Prevention

Americans drink to celebrate and to mourn. We toast a new addition to our family, an engagement, a marriage, a new job, and a life well-lived. We open a bottle to break bread with friends, to watch sports, to pray, and to drown our sorrows. But we also suffer from addiction, violence, motor vehicle crashes, and death, all at the hands of alcohol. This keynote explores America's cultural relationship to alcohol, from the thirteen colonies and prohibition to today's music and movies. In prevention, we often focus so intently on our communities and strategies that we fail to step back and look at the much, much bigger picture of the cultural and historical context of what we are trying to accomplish. Using humor and examples from history, movies, music, television, and more, Dr. Rodney Wambeam provides the larger context of what it means to prevent the misuse, abuse, and devastating consequences of a substance that has always been part of the American experience.

Rodney Wambeam, Ph.D. is a Senior Research Scientist at the Wyoming Survey & Analysis Center of the University of Wyoming. Dr. Wambeam is principle investigator of the State Incentive Grant, Strategic Prevention Framework State Incentive Grant, and Partnerships for Success evaluations in multiple states, as well as numerous other state and local level research projects. He is author of "The Community Needs Assessment Workbook" from Oxford University Press and a popular presenter across America. Dr. Wambeam is best known for his plenary presentation titled "Boomers, Xers, and Millennials: How New Research on Generations can inform the Future of Prevention," which he delivered more than thirty times around the country.
