The 2020 Census Fund of Community Foundation Boulder County will support organizations with grassroots outreach efforts led by cultural brokers – well-connected members of communities identified as hard-to-count populations.

Hard-to-count populations in Boulder County include immigrants and Latinos who speak Spanish as a first language, communities of color, college students, seniors, families with children under five, low-income residents and people experiencing homelessness, among others.

Current engaged agencies:
- Teens, Inc.
- El Centro Amistad
- Out Boulder
- Wild Plum (early childhood outreach)
- CU-Boulder
- FRCC
- CPWD
- Bridge House
- EFAA
- Area Agency on Aging
