

Boulder County Crisis Counseling Program

In response to the wildfires and the pandemic, JFS and Community Foundation Boulder County have partnered to offer counseling services to Boulder County residents.

This program supports the behavioral health needs of those affected by these events. Individuals can identify and select a local licensed behavioral health provider that best meets their needs.

The program offers ten individual or family counseling sessions.

If you or someone you know in Boulder County could benefit from counseling sessions, visit jewishfamilyservice.org/bcc.
