What are Accessory Dwellings?

Accessory Dwellings, also referred to as Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs), are also known as “granny flats”, “in-law suites”, “backyard cottages” and many other names. Accessory Dwellings are small second residences on a property with a single family home that are intended to be subordinate to the primary home.

Owned and can used by the property owner or may be rented to other people.
Currently, three types of accessory dwellings are permitted in Unincorporated Boulder County:

| Family Care Unit          | Occupied by a family member who either requires some level of care or supervision from—or provides some level of care or supervision to—another family member inhabiting the principal residence. | • Limited Impact Special Review required;
• One off-street parking space must be provided;
• Limited in size, but varies depending on type;
• Generally, the property owner must live on the property;
• Temporary—if use changes, approval can be rescinded;
• Owner must submit annual reports stating that the use has not changed |
| Agricultural Worker Unit  | Occupied by an agricultural worker or family whose help is required to support or conduct an agricultural principal use on the property. | ——                                                                                         |
| Historical Unit           | Exists within a landmarked structure whose purpose is to contribute to the preservation of the landmark. | ——                                                                                         |
Why now?

Boulder County Comprehensive Plan Housing Element – October, 16, 2019

Marshall Fire

- Community interest
- Need to planning for rebuilding
- Ability to obtaining financing to build an Accessory Dwelling along with the main house
- Time constraints

BCCP

HO 1.04 Limited Increases in Density. In circumscribed situations, the county may enable increased residential density that meets affordability needs, is integrated within or adjacent to existing developed areas, is capable of being served by adequate public facilities, is considerate of long-term cost impacts on public facilities, and has strong multimodal transportation connections or potential for such connections.

HO 1.06 Innovation and Evolution of Housing Solutions. The county allows for innovation and creativity in policies and regulations as demographic conditions, building typologies, and new housing strategies evolve over time.

HO 3.05 Accessory Dwelling Units. The county will consider accommodating more housing in defined areas and circumstances by providing opportunities for well-designed attached and detached accessory dwelling units with limited impacts on the county’s natural resources and transportation infrastructure.

PH 5.01 Affordable Housing. Boulder County recognizes there is a connection between individuals having safe, affordable housing and their physical and mental health, and the county supports efforts to create, conserve and preserve affordable housing.

Poll – Which of the types discussed do you think would best fit into your neighborhood?

Questions or comments so far?
Benefits

• A tool for aging in place
• Provide opportunities for multi-generational living
• Provide additional income
• Adds another option to the housing supply
• Small units allow for an affordable/attainable housing
• Can blend in with the neighborhood

Poll – Based on what we have discussed so far are you in favor of allowing Accessory Dwellings?
Concerns

- Increased traffic in my neighborhood
- Reduced access to parking in my neighborhood
- Additional development could impact features I appreciate such as my views or environmental resources
- Increased noise and activity levels
- Diminishment of privacy

Poll – For those of you who answered “No” or “Unsure” to the previous question does this list capture your concerns?

Questions or comments so far?
If we recognize the benefits and we want to allow Accessory Dwellings to realize these benefits, how do we address the concerns so these new dwellings do blend in with the neighborhood?

Common Standards and Restrictions (Parameters)

- Size limitations
- Off-street parking requirements
- Owner must occupy the primary or accessory dwelling
- Restricted to certain zones
- Architectural restrictions (height, building design/materials, etc.)
- Primary and accessory dwelling must be sold together
- May not be short-term rentals

Poll - Which of these parameters do you think should be addressed in any new regulations?
Poll - What do you think is an acceptable size for an Accessory Dwelling in your neighborhood?
Planning & Zoning Review Processes

Some Planning & Zoning Reviews examine if the ‘Use’, in this case the Accessory Dwelling may be allowed on the property and the Accessory Dwelling could be denied.

Other review processes presume the ‘use’ is allowed but may examine the impacts of the development.

Poll – Do you think an Accessory Dwelling should be presumed to be allowed?
Planning & Zoning Review Processes

Poll - Do you think that neighbors should be notified and allowed to comment on an Accessory Dwelling proposal in their neighborhood?
Planning & Zoning Review Processes

Providing neighborhood notice and comment opportunities means that a planning & zoning review process be required prior to obtaining a building permit.

Poll – What level of planning and zoning review should Boulder County require prior to issuing a building permit?
